

Citation information for the LRDG site:

Below is the basic information needed to cite this page. Included are several examples from popular style manuals. The information was generated using EndNote 8. As always, it is best to check with your instructor/teacher or publisher and use the approved citation method. As you can see from the samples below there are several ways to cite a web page. Some of the information appears in brackets [insert...]. Watch carefully. If the brackets say [insert...] the brackets are not part of the citation. In some case these brackets are nested inside other brackets which are part of the cite. Pay close attention, If the information in bracket does not begin with “insert”, then the bracket is part of the citation. However, if the bracketed info begins with “insert” remove the brackets. It will all make sense.
